TO THE MANAGERS OF ROGERS' STORES-

If you fellows will read this bulletin over carefully you will see just how many good values-reductions in prices-we are instructing you to offer your trade for TODAY

All of these items were incorporated in advertisements appearing in both the Georgian and Journal yesterday afternoon, and pretty nearly everybody in Atlanta ought to know about 'em by this time. With the big circulations claimed by these—the two leading afternoon papers of the city—there oughtn't to be hardly anybody in Atlanta who doesn't know all about these big values-and knowing about 'em isn't ready to visit your stores today and save themselves money by trading with you.

But good news will bear repeating, so we use The Constitution this morning to tell it over again to the many thousands who read one or the other of our splendid afternoon papers—and finally, also, to catch the eye of any of those who prefer to find out what's going on over the world by confining their reading to Atlanta's leading morning newspaper.

And, speaking of reading newspapers, there's lots of good things in all of them besides Rogers' ads. and bulletins. Among some of the things I enjoy most is reading Ed Danforth's "Ear to the Ground," in the Georgian, and keeping up with the doings of Wayward Buoye. That may be because my mind and the mind of Ed's friend (or the place where his mind ought to be), moves somewhat in the same channel. As a matter of fact, some folks kind o' confused my picture in the Georgian the other day with that of Mr. Buoye. Anyway, Wayward does some right brave and foolish things, just like I'm going to do right now-

Now, fellows, Saturday morning is usually a busy time with everybody-certainly with you boys-but I believe you can find time to read just a few lines here about our idea of the kind of service the Rogers Company wants and expects you to give your customers. Not that you are not giving good service. Bless you, no. We believe you are giving the best you know how to give. But they say there's always room for improvement-and if there is, let's do it. Let's give the BEST IN THE

I was reading recently in a magazine where a merchant made a careful analysis of why he lost 200 customers. These 200 had at some time or another traded with him, but none had been in his store for a year or more. He asked them for an honest statement as to why they no longer favored him with their patronage. Here's what they said:

Indifference of salespeople.... 47 Attempts at substitution 24 Insolence of salespeople..... 16 Unnecessary delays in service.. 13 Tactless business policies 11 Bad arrangement of store.... Salespeople's ignorance of goods 6 Refusal to exchange purchases. 4 Poor quality of goods.....

One hundred and forty, or 70 per cent, of these customers said they discontinued their patronage because of seven ways in which the store's salespeople failed to please Indifference of salespeople.... 47 Attempts at substitution..... 24 Over-insistence of salespeople...16 Insolence of salespeople..... 16 Unnecessary delay in service.. 13 Salespeople's ignorance of goods 6

Customers lost by these 140

This merchant's experience shows the human relations to be the most important factor in winning, pleasing and holding a store's customers. Our company, as well as our customers, expect salespeople to:

Be courteous and respectful.

Be eager to serve. Be attentive and alert. Be accurate.

Know the goods they sell. Tell the truth about merchan-

Give quick service. Sell at advertised prices.

If you will notice, boys, 23½ per cent, or 47 out of 200, gave "indifference of salespeople" as a reason for discontinuing their patronage. This is one of the worst faults clerks and managers can be guilty of. We are not calling your attention to this because of a complaint of any kind-just merely want you to keep these things in mind, so there can't possibly be any com-today by Director Hines.

The bureau's activities will be divided into two distinct groups, one known as the operating division and the other as the planning and control division. Six assistant directors will function under the new plan, four superivising the operating department and two administering all petivities in connection with planning and control.

In announcing the reorganization, the director said it was being carried out independent of any recommendations contained in the report of John F. O'Ryan, general counsel of the Detroit. January 11.-Charging acts of cruelty against Sebastian S. Kresge, wealthy owner of a chain of popular priced stores and nationally known prohibition advocate, Mrs. Anna E. Kresge was granted a divorce and custody of their two minor children by Judge Adolph F. Marshnet in circuit court here today. A property settlement, understood to be "entirely satisfactory" and under which she was given sole possession of the palatial Kresge residence here, was made out of court, Mrs. Kresge's attorneys announced.

Mrs. Kresge in her bill of complaint said her husband was sullen and morose and went days without speaking to her. He took no interest in the welfare of their five children, she alleged. The two minor children given into the custody of Mrs. Kresge are Catherine H., 15, and Anna, 12.

The Kresges were married in Memphis, Tenn., December 19, 1887, and separated in December, 1922.

The governor's treatment of this subject is an inspiration. No one can follow his argument without being convinced of the wisdom of his conclusion.

There are many counties in Kentucky similarly situated to those in Georgia-counties which cannot bear their part of the expense necessary to develop their highways at the pace set by the more prosperous counties.

Of this Governor Fields says:

"An equitable distribution of the end fund throughout the state should be guaranteed. No section of the state should profit at the expense of another section, nor should any section of the state suffer for the benefit of

These counties do not desire to remain in justice. the pauper class; neither do they desire to be advanced from that status at the expense of other counties. All they ask is an opportunity for selfdevelopment, the cost to be paid out of the increased revenues that will follow their development. They therefore need state aid, not in the gift of money, but in the extension of credit on their immediate and future taxable assets. The obligations thus incurred by these counties through the extenbe discharged through and by their

Every word said by Governor Fields for Kentucky applies with equal force to every other southern state, and if other governors and other states would commit themselves to the policy so strikingly outlined by Kentucky's governor, the south would accomplish in a few years what, by the methods of the past half century, will require another half century to achieve.

The women members of the house of commons sitting in the old mother of parliaments took off their hats in violation of the ancient customs of the house, where no woman may uncover. There is a precedent in history about taking off hats which marked the incoming of an era of revolution. After Louis XVI opened the national assembly with a speech from the throne he put his feathered hat on and was immediately followed by the nobility and the clergy. The members of the third estate were supposed to remain uncovered, but to the great surprise of the nobles, the commoners also put on their hats. commoners also put on their hats, whereupon the king took off his and the third estate followed suit once more. Comparative few readers seek light on the question why is a boil?—probably because most human beings do not aspire to solve insoluble mysteries like that and the reason why women universally skin page two in writing universally skip page two in writing a letter and then go back to it after they have finished page three. But a powerful lot of letters, and remarkably cheerful ones they are, too, say we, ask what drives felks into the wholesale culture of boils when the business is not only unprofitable, but positively distastaful positively distasteful.

Have you ever wondered how many books there are in existence? On the average 200,000 volumes are published each year throughout the world, and, as 8,500,000 books appeared last century, one can obtain a fairty good idea of the size of the world's book shop. Adding together each century shop. Adding together each century since printing was invented, the astonishing total of 60,000,000 is reached. The amount of energy, time, paper and printers ink which have gone to produce all thesebooks is absolutely incalculable. Two days ago a stolen car was found abandoned in Atlanta. As is customary, reference was made to the department at the capitol under the secretary of state. They looked up 7731266, and phoned the man that his car had been stolen.

"You're crazy," he answered. "My car's in front of the house. I can see it wor."

Thereupon—investigations.

They found two cars registered under 7731266 and after locating the man who had actually bought that car, returned the stolen property to him. But if the car of the first man had been stolen, there would have been no way to identify it. All of which illustrates the value of the state auto tag department in finding owners for stray cars and illustrates the importance of care when you make application for your 1924 tag—which you must do within the next two months or so—or pay the 20 per cent penalty for remissness. This picture has greatly pleased the Howard audiences all the pleased the Howard audiences all the pleased the Howard soulful narrative. The superintendent's action was reported as it has been known pleased the Howard audiences all the week. The story, a soulful narrative of reckless love and erring youth, points out the evils that exist in a small town. It answers the question of whether the morals are better or worse in a small town than in a big city. The featured players are Glenn Hunter, May McAvoy, Ernest Torcence, George Fawcett and Zasu Pitts. The overture is "Fantasy of Lucia." The prologue is Ricardo Montiel, baritone.

SEC. WEEKS OPPOSES

Washington, January 11.—Trans-fer of river and harbor workers from John army to civilian engineers was specifically opposed today by Secretary Weeks at the congressional reorgani-zation committee hearing.

The war secretary also reiterated his disapproval of the proposed con-solidation of the war and navy de-partments. Similar testimony which was to have been given by Secretary Denby was delayed until Monday. Secretary Weeks said the river and harbor work formed a basis around which practically all other engineering duties of the army were centered. He indorsed, however, transfer of the inland and coastwist waterways service to the commerce department.

Easter was celebrated on the first day of April in 1923, and the date on which it may fall ranges from March 22 to April 25, although it rarely occurs on either of those dates. As Easter falls on April 20 this year, Ash Wednesday, which marks the first day of Lent, will be on March 1.

The luna month is used in recknic by the date on which Easter falls, and it is, therefore, not set by the rea, or astronomical moon. This custom is in accordance with an ancient ecclosiastical ruling, but seldom makes any difference in the date, as the astronomical moon nearly always accords with the luna month.

However, it failed to do so last year, and if Easter had been set by the real moon, it would have fallen on April 8 instead of on All Fools' day, April 1, when it was the case.

A denial that the department of agriculture intended to issue a revised estimate of the crop may have contributed to the rally which carried prices 10 to 17 points above yesterday's closing quotations with January selling at 34.15 and May at 34.67. Demand tapered off at these figures as it has been doing on nearly all recent advances and there was a repeated of flouidation local and southrecent advances and there was a renewal of liquidation, local and southern selling, which sent the active months 32 to 57 points net lower in the late trading. Closing prices were within a few points of the lowest. Points cables said the decline in Liverpool was due to a poor trade demand. But that Manchester reported an improved inquiry for goods. The weekend figures placed spinners' takings for the week at 305,704 bales, against 277,501 last week, and 269,056 last year.

Changes in the price in cotton today were divided into three distinct movements, the break in the early session, the strong rally that came in the middle part of the day, and the wide slump of the afternoon, the latter being the most pronounced fluctuation of the session. It carried prices 37 to 68 points under the close of yesterday to 33.75 cents a pound for March and to 27.40 for October. The close was 37 to 62 points net lower on the day, the last sale of March being at 33.85 and of October at 27.40.

In the early session there was selling that was based on the disappointing returns from the cloth markets, but after declines of 25 to 34 points a much better feeling gained ground and the market exhibited pronounced strength when the weekly statistics commenced to be posted. Mill takings were much larger than expected, the world taking, 34.000 bales of American cotton against 262,000 this week last year. They, to all appearances, caught the ring short and purchases to cover short contracts caused a rise of the cover short contracts caused to cover short contracts caused a rise to 34.60 for March and 27.89 for October. ROCK ISLAND: Rock Island closed the 1922 year with a surplus after charges and preferred dividends estimated at a little mere than 81 a share on the $74,350,722 of common stock. This was somewhat better than the showing in 1922 when final balance was about 96c a share on the common. This showing is somewhat below earlier expectations, due to the fact that nearly $4,000,000 more was spent on maintenance of property and equipment than in 1922.

corn led to unloading of early purchases and prices eased off. On the decline there was quiet absorption which checked downand prices eased off. On the decline there was quiet absorption which checked downturns.

Around 1.09 there seemed to be considerable wheat for sale by eastern commission houses.

Corn—There was scattered selling on more favorable weather and indications of increase in country selling. Declines ran into buying to reinatate lines recently sold, however, and they did not extend far. Receipts a little more liberal and buyers discriminated, the poor grades selling 1 to 2 lower, while choice held steady. Corn meets with good buying on all set-backs, and until there is an increase in movement and an accumulation of stocks, it is not felt that there will be any sustained decline.

Outs—Trade small and market easy with other grains. There was scattered buying that absorbed offerings.

Frovisions—Quiet but steady, hogs 15 to 25 up, top 7.45.—Fenner & Beane.

New York, January 11 .- Encouraged by the decision of the house republicans to take early action on the tax reduction bill, professional operators resumed their campaign for higher prices in today's stock market, the fifth consecutive million share session. Industrials regained leadership of the industrials regained leadership of the upward movement. Heavy profit taking took place in the railroad shares, particularly the low priced issues, on the circulation of reports that Senator Smith, newly elected chairman of the senate committee on interstate commerce, favored prompt action to lower freight rates, particularly on agriculture.

An abundance of cheap money, which resulted in call funds falling below 4 per cent for the first time since last September, also aided operations for the rise. Time money and commercial paper were quoted at 4 3-4 to 5 per cent. Food, chemical, merchandising, oil, motor and motor accessory sissues gave the best demonstrates.

Roebuck, the net gain ranging from 2 1-4 to 5 points.

on December 31 was 7,048,318 shares, or 20.62 per cent, a new low record. At the end of 1922 the total stock held by brokers was 1,335,864 shares or 26.28 per cent of the amount outstanding. A temporary burst of strength in the equipment group sent Baldwin up to 127 5-8 but it slipped back later to 126 3-4 for a small fractional gain on the day. General Electric duplicated its record price of 200 1-2 closing slightly below that figure for gain on the day. General Electric duplicated its record price of 200 1-2 closing slightly below that figure for a net gain of 2 3-8. Oil shares continued to reflect the improvement in that industry as indicated by a steady reduction in crude output and higher commodity prices.

a net gain of 2 3-8. Oil shares continued to reflect the improvement in that industry as indicated by a steady reduction in crude output and higher commodity prices.

Sporadic attempts were made during the day by the short interests to unsettle the list by offering stocks freely on the theory that the condition of the market warranted at least a technical reaction, but they failed to make much headway except in a few issues like American Woolen, Tobacco Products, Iron Products and American Sumatra Tobacco, all of which declined a point or so.

Net losses in the railroad group were, as a rule, limited to fractions.

$1,000 Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance Policy

You may say to yourself: "I don't need this protection, because I don't travel." If so, let us tell you what traveling really means under the terms of this policy. The minute you go anywhere, whether by Auto, Motorcycle, Street Car, Railroad, Steamer, Taxi, Jitney Bus, or by foot, you are "traveling" under the sense of this policy, and are entitled to its protection in accordance with terms and conditions specified therein.

So, unless you stay at all times within the confines of your own home you are liable to accidents on which this policy affords you protection.

Hat Pattern

Ribbons have been favored by women of fastidious taste since the days of Queen Elizabeth. No other days of Queen Elizabeth. No other one material has such a range of fascinating possibilities for hats. Ribbons of contrasting shades roll softly from the face to form this soft brim hat and ribbon makes the crown. There is no frame save a crown or headsize band. The process of making is so simple and the results so satisfactory that every girl will want to make this model.

MATERIAL REQUIRED. Two yards 5-inch ribbon for crown and facing, 1 yard 4-inch ribbon for contrasting color for the top of the brim, 1 ornament or pin, 1 soft-pressed crown, 1 cap lining.

HAT PATTERN ORDER. This order will bring you pattern ad working instructions for making hat illustrated above. Fill in name and address, inclose 25 cents in stamps, postal note or coins—address your order to Hat Pattern De art-ment, The Atlanta Constitution, At-

Beauty Chats BY EDNA KENT FORBES

LITTLE THINGS.

A very good astringent for the com-plexion, which is particularly useful to the girl whose face has a tendency to freckle, is as follows: Buy a half pint of emulsion of almonds from a chemist and add to it slowly three-quarters of a dram of tincture of ben-zoin. The chemists sometimes call this "simple tincture of benzoin." Put the enulsion into a bowl and add the tincture a few drops at a tine, beating and stirring it in thoroughly. Keep a bottle and rub over the face after it has been washed. It is cooling and delicious in the summer time if it is rubbed over the face after exposure to a hot sun.

One young girl told me that this not only cured summer freckles for her, but also prevented them. Her skin, however, reacted unusually well. While this is an excellent lotion tending to make the skin fine grained and white, I do not think it will always prevent freckles.

Another treatment is to buy pow-dered outment, or outment powder, as some druggists call it, and to use it by rubbing it into the pores of the nose after the skin has been washed with hot water. The skin must be wet and the tips of the fingers dipped first in the water and then in the powder. An extraordinary amount can be rubbed in. When it is rinsed out with hot water it will bring away with it a certain amount of the grease and dirt which has settled in the skin and enlarged the pores.

NEXT WEEK: "THE BURNING PILGRIMAGE," By Guy H. B. Deni.

You know she came from the country?"

"Yes, from New Hampshire, but she never talked very much about it."
Miss Veith nodded. "I believe she bad tried a secretarial position and then been an attendant in a doctor's office before she came to us. Jo—Miss Fremont—wasn't lazy but she bated the drudgery, and the first-term work disgusted her. There was an old lady—a diabetes case—who took an immense fancy to Miss Freemont. That was how she happened to leave os? "Was the old lady's name Yates?" McCarty eyed her guilelessly—"Yes. She was a widow, enormously wealthy, I believe, and just in the first stage of the disease. The doctor ordered her to a health—resort—I don't remember where—and she induced Miss Fremont to give up the training and go with her as a sort of practical nurse and companion. We never heard from her again."

McCarty got up from his chairt. "It was good of you to see us, miss. You don't recall which Mrs. Yates it was took her away?"

"Oh, yes." Miss Veith nodded. "Her husband had been a famous man in his day; she was Mrs. Justin Yates."

the butler coughed. "Mrs. Yates and away more than ten years ago. Miss Genevieve Yates, her niece, des here now." "It was left to two nephews and police headquarters served to make her reveal anything further. At last she said: "None of us—my cousins nor myself—approved of that nurse! We considered her a conniving crequire, but Mrs. Yates was devoted to her and wouldn't listen. As for the doctor"—a' chudder passed over her delicate, high-bred face. 'We never trusted him. My aunt was fully competent and fortunately never confided in the doctor. It was the girl's inpetent and fortunately never confided in the doctor. It was the girl's influence over her that we feared, and when Miss Fremont left her after a year to marry the doctor and Mrs. Yate; refused to see either of them again, we were immeasurably relieved. She died a few months later."

"What was the doctor's name?"

"He was"—Miss Yates paused and when she continued her voice was scarcely above a whisper. "He was Dr. Felix Watsinger."

McCarty found it difficult osteady his voice. "You don't mean the Dr Walsinger who was convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of some rich old gentleman he was treating, and died afterward himse!f in prison?"

"Will you ask her, please, if she'll be kind enough to see us for a minute?"

After an interval Miss Yates appeared, a tall, slender, white-haired woman.

McCarty bowed and remained standing. "Tis extraordinary business we've come on, ma'am, and I'll have to ask you some questions that'll maybe sound impertinent but if you'll ansewer me you'll not be troubled again. It's about your aunt, Mrs. Justin Yates."

"My aunt." the elderly woman exclaimed in surprise minsled with hauteur. "Mrs. Yates has been dead for some years."

MONEY TO LOAN TAKE NOTICE

WE have moved our offices and changed our name, which may be confusing to some of our old customers. Those who have been dealing with the Surety Loan Company FOR the past eight years will find the same office force in charge of the new company. To those who have not had an account with us we wish to say that through courteous and efficient service we have built up the largest lending agency in the entire south. We are located in throroughly modern up-to-the-minute banking quarters under the supervision of the state banking department. Loans are made in amounts of $25 up to $300 with your household goods as security. No endorsers, publicity or recording of your dealings. A big concern with a big business built up by little loans made to thousands upon thousands of average ordinary citizens and rendering a service which you may well be proud to avail yourself of—that's us.

Enter and Live.

In that exodus led by Moses from Egypt, many fell by the wayside.

When they came to the entrance of the Promised Land, for fear, they refused to enter, and wasted years in wilderness wandering because they doubted the promise of God.

God forbid that we should repeat their folly when not Moses but Jesus has said: HEMPHILL AVENUE METHODIST. has said:
"The time is fulfilled, and the Kingdom of God is at hand."
Let's enter and live in obedience to the law of the land, seeing in our public officials, not tyrants, petty or big, but ministers, servants, God's and ours, endowed with power, not for the oppression of a single soul, but for the good of one and all.

We would not send a policeman to make you obey the law. We would send God's Word. His Son, Incarnate Love, to plead with you to uphold the law for which He died. His Kingdom is at hand. At the Ponce de Leon Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, the pastor, Dr. William G. Clinton, will preach at 11 o'clock Sun-day on "The Face of Jesus." free stations, maintained to advertise the concerns which operate them These stations make no charge for unatter which they broadcast and in general seek to discourage political talks. However, they find it extremely difficult to draw the line. Within the past two weeks there have been radio talks sent out from Washington concerning the world court, tax re-duction, the Bok peace plan, the bonus, naval preparedness, and similar pub-lic questions, mostly made by senators and cabinet officers. While every effort is made to keep political par-tisanship out of these discussions, the mere fact that a democratic senator permitted to talk on the world court, or that another senator dis-cusses tax reduction, is enough to stir up a demand for a hearing of the

After the nominating campaign, the free stations will have to broaden their policy toward political matter considerably, some of the most impor-tant utterances will be broadcast generally, as was the case in Coolidge's message to congress. Events of this kind are of such universal interest that every radio fan wishes to hear them and the demand has to be met. Monopoly Is Charged.

Already the inevitable charge of monopoly is being raised. It is contended that the great broadcasting stations are able to exercise a virtual monopoly, excluding opinions with which they do not agree. Sometime about to join the ranks of post-war ago an effort was made in New York to disseminate a reply to a speech on radicalism made by William J. Burns, of the department of justice, but al though two speakers were suggested, the broadcasting concerns declined to give them time. Just this week Sen-ator Howell, of Nebraska, declared on the senate floor that the radio business is in the hands of a monopoly. He was alluding principally to the control of apparatus manufacturing and patents. Remarking that the time to prevent monopoly is in the infancy of any development, Howell said:

"Had this been done in connection with radio, we would not now be con-fronted with a monopoly with radio not only in the United States but practically throughout the world. The operating companies, the manufactur-ing companies, are controlling this ap-paratus to the end that one of the most far-reaching monopolies that ever has been developed in the world

Bids were invited. But strangely enough the millionaires did not bite. There are scant indications that Albania's daugling crown was even nibbled at by millionaires who wanted to retire into a luxurious job of kinging.

Albania, in disgust, gave up the struggle. A general election was ordered and the question of what to do about a ruler was submitted to the people. The constituent assembly elected this week is overwhelmingly expublican. Apparently the only question now remaining is whether there is to be one president, or three regent presidents.

Give Em 3 Bank Rolls.

Presumably the latter plan will be adopted, in order that all three elements of the mixed population. Greek Orthodox, Roman Catholic and Mohammedan, may be represented.

Unkind observers suggest that three presidents would have a larger combined bank roll with which to support the government.
